Advice of Manufacturers to Employees in Wool Industry—Foolish Day Found Victims in Washington.

(By VAN CLEVE.)

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The weather man played a joke on us today. It didn't rain. Instead the day opened up bright and warm and there were many who looked wearily at the papers on their desks and longed for the fishing tackle or the base ball grounds. April fool's day has been observed by many in the old familiar way. Little boys have been busy looking for flying machines and various other things that were not in sight, and the older citizens played upon the credulity of their fellows in numerous ways. The favorite joke and the one that most people fell for was the telephone joke. Mr. Smith comes down to work and finds a note on his desk asking him to call Mr. Bear, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Lyon, or some other familiar name at Columbia 3157. The unsuspecting Smith goes to the phone, calls Columbia 3157, after several minutes' calling, waiting and explaining he gets through and then sneaks back to his seat while his friends roar in laughter. He finds that he has called up the "Zoo," and that Mr. Bear is not answering any calls.

The house finished up the wool bill today and passed it with a large majority, most of the insurgent Republicans voting for the Democratic bill to reduce the duties on wools and woolen goods. It is reasonably certain now that the people will get some measure of relief from the exorbitant tax on their clothing and blankets. This is substantially the same bill that passed the house last summer. It is expected that the senate will pass it in some form, probably after amending it upward, and it has lately been given out that the president has decided to sign "a decent bill" if it gets up to him. Mr. Taft has gathered a great deal of beneficial information from the people of the United States since he vetoed the bill last summer, and Mrs. Taft was an interested spectator for several days at the recent hearings of the mill employees from Lawrence, Mass. Their testimony gave a very clear idea of how this most highly protected of all the manufacturers benefited the working man. Industrious and highly skilled weavers get from $6 to $10 per week, and the manufacturers, with a fine vein of sarcasm, pay off these men of families in envelopes on which is printed "Save your money and buy a home."

Senator Kenyon of Iowa and Senator Lea of Tennessee, two of the young members of the senate, one a Republican and one a Democrat, deserve credit for an attack last week on a public building steal that had slipped through the senate through an old custom of senatorial courtesy. By long service perhaps more than anything else the senators from Wyoming have more influence and power in the United States senate than any others, barring a possible half dozen. These young senators, noting that Senator Warren had secured the passage of several bills providing for public buildings to cost from $50,000 to $75,000 in Wyoming towns of which they had never heard, looked up the population of the towns and were amazed. They discovered, for instance, that one of the places which had been allotted a $75,000 building was a metropolis named Sundance, and that the recent census accorded the place a population of 281. To make the matter appear worse, it also appeared that Sundance had lost ten of its residents during the previous ten years, it having a population of 291 in 1909. Other towns but little larger were in the list. The bills were recalled and will come up again if the Wyoming senators have the face to make a fight for them against certain opposition this time. The act of these new members, however, was considered outrageous by the old heads, and there were threats of ostracism and all sorts of dire punishment. There are now eighteen or twenty spirited young members who are very annoying and extremely hard to handle. If the number is increased much there will be a good many old customs smashed. Last summer objection was made to the lemonade and lithia water so long in use, and Senator Kenyon had the temerity, the other day, to suggest that the government should not be compelled to pay for face cream and cosmetics for the senators.

Arrangements were completed Thursday afternoon for the public thank offering service Easter morning at the First M. E. church, when Miss Fannie Perkins, a returned missionary, will speak at the 11 o'clock service, under the auspices of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, which met with Mrs. O. C. Hanna. There was a large attendance and the meeting was enthusiastic. Mrs. J. T. Linville read a fine paper on "Asia's Viewpoint of the Missionary Question." Mrs. W. B. Christy gave an effective reading entitled "My Becky's Thank Offering." A piano number, a duet by Miss Hildred Hanna and Mrs. E. F. Wolfert, was also a nice part of the program. Five delegates were chosen to the district convention, which meets in Hopkins next week. They are Mrs. W. B. Christy, Mrs. Preston Seafers, Mrs. William Funk, Mrs. O. C. Hanna and Mrs. M. M. Rittenour. During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Rittenour, Mrs. Jose Eckles, Mrs. Walter Mutz and Mrs. Clinton Davis.

Are Their Prices Reasonable?

In a recent issue of your paper I noticed the advanced prices for medical attendance by our county physicians. No doubt they think their actions are just and are justifiable in so doing, but to an old farmer it does not seem right to charge such exorbitant prices. There are lots of poor people that can not employ a physician and pay his charges. The result will be people will suffer for the want of attention and medicine. The general cry is "Down with the saloons. They rob the poor women and children." People do not have to go to the saloons, but sickness comes to all at times and cannot be avoided, but must they suffer and die without help, or pay these prices and help to enrich the purses of the few and beggar the sufferers? We think the servant is worthy of his hire and should be paid a liberal fee, but we do think the prevailing prices are exorbitant and should be reduced. With good will to all land malice toward none, I submit these few thoughts to the readers of your worthy paper. STAR CARMICHAEL.

Craig at Albany.

Judge Anderson Craig of Maryville was in Albany Tuesday looking after political fences. He is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator from this district, and so far as we know he has no opposition at present. Judge Craig is at present a member of the lower house from Nodaway county, but desires to be promoted to the senate. He is a strong man intellectually, morally and legally, and has made a splendid record in the last general assembly.—Albany Ledger.

Mrs. J. D. Roberts and daughters, Nevada and Mrs. E. E. Williams, and Mr. Williams, who have been visiting for several days at the home of Mrs. Robert's daughter, Mrs. W. M. Cheeser, on East Edward street, returned to their home in Rosendale Thursday evening.

Mrs. Mary Richards, who is visiting in Maryville this evening on business.

TO MEET TONIGHT

NEW OFFICIALS WILL BE SWORN IN AT THIS MEETING.

J. W. MORRIS TO QUALIFY

As Police Judge—A Fire Driver to Be Appointed—Regular Appointments in May.

The regular monthly meeting of the city council will be held this evening and several new officials elected. Thursday will be sworn in. The new officials are E. C. Moberly, chief of police; John Borrusch, alderman from the Second ward; Charles McNeal, alderman from the Third ward; William Moyer, alderman from the Fourth ward. Frank Ewing was re-elected Tuesday as alderman from the First ward. The hold-over members of the council are Henry Foster, C. D. Hooker, John Gray and Louis Gram.

J. W. Morris, who received a number of votes in Tuesday's election as police judge, expects to qualify tonight as such. What action the council will take on the matter is not known. Mayor Robey has never signed the ordinance abolishing the office, and several are of the opinion that the ordinance is not legal. Mr. Morris contends that he was legally elected. The election call published in the paper did not call for the election of a police judge.

Other business matters will be taken up, such as allowing bills, and also the appointment of a temporary fire driver for one month to take the place of E. C. Moberly, who is now marshal.

The regular appointments will not be made until the May meeting of the council, and at that time Mayor Robey will fill the following places: City clerk, city attorney, fire driver, members of the fire department, street commissioner, city physician, city engineer and night policeman.

THIRD TERM IN PEN

HARDEN HAD BEEN SENT UP TWICE BEFORE FOR FORGERY.

DESSINGER A DESERTER

Two of Nodaway County Contingent in State Penitentiary Were Seemingly "Bad Eggs"—Officers Back.

Sheriff W. R. Tilson, Deputy Sheriffs Robert Yeaman and Carl Riffe returned Thursday night from Jefferson City, where they took five men that will serve time in the penitentiary.

They learned at that institution that Ed Harden, who pleaded guilty in court last Saturday to forging a check on Fred Vandersloot, had been there twice before. Harden said in court here that this was his first offense, and the court gave him only the minimum penalty of two years. Harden was sent up for the first time from Springfield, Mo., for forgery, under the name of Ed Horgan, and was sentenced for two years. The second time he was sent up for the same offense in another county and received a sentence of four years. He was released from the penitentiary in 1909. This time he went under the name of Ed Harden.

John F. Dessinger, who was given five years for breaking in a car and stealing several articles at Conception Junction last Friday, was found out to be a deserter from the navy.

The other three prisoners taken to Jefferson City were: Irvin Schroyer, for a term of two years; George Galbreath, for a term of three years; Elmer Dix, for a term of two years.

THE TIGERS WON.

Tournament at High School Ended Wednesday With Tigers in the Lead.

The tournament between the various high school teams ended on Wednesday evening, when the Tigers won from the Blues by a 14 to 16 score in the fastest game that has been played on the court during the series. The crowd present was a record breaker, and the partisans for the teams seemed about equally divided, so none of the players lacked encouragement. The Tigers started the game with a rush and obtained the first basket. The Blues, however, kept the score about even with their free throws, and the balance was in favor of first one and then the other until time was called at the end of the first half, when it was found that the Tigers were just one point ahead. The teams played about equally through almost all of the last half, but toward the last part of the game the Tigers began to slowly creep away from their opponents and maintained their lead to the last. Neither team at any time had an advantage of more than a point or two, and at no stage was the outcome at all certain. The tournament just ended has proved to be of considerable interest to all those who are interested in basket ball, and the whole school has been more or less concerned as to the outcome. It is possible that a similar tournament will be held during the next basket ball season, and on a larger scale. The standing of the teams who played in this tournament is as follows:

Tigers, first, with a perfect score; Blues, second; Little Giants, third; High Flyers, fourth.

The Tigers will receive the pennant for winning first place in the near future, and will place it in the high school building.

The line-up of the game:

The Tigers—David, Ford, Montgomery, Thompson, H. Sawyers.

The Blues—V. Hyle, Robinson, Condon, Blagg, A. Lyle, Willson.

Summary—Field goals, Ford 2, David, Thompson, H. Sawyers, Condon 2, Willson. Free throws, Ford 4, David 2, Condon 5, Robinson, Blagg V. Lyle.

Referee, Horton.

TO BE CLEAN-UP DAY

SATURDAY, APRIL 13, SET ASIDE BY MAYOR ROBEY.

TO CLEAN UP PREMISES

Not Only Adds to Appearance of City But Will Prevent Great Deal of Sickness.

Saturday, April 13, has been set by Mayor A. S. Robey as clean-up day, and he urges all householders to clean up their yards and the alleys. All dirt and rubbish on the paving will be hauled away that day, if they will notify Street Commissioner Eph Tilton. Unavoidably a lot of filth and rubbish has accumulated during the winter. For the past four months most of this filth has been covered by snow, but now that the drifts of the "beautiful" have disappeared, it is all exposed to view and does not in many places present a very inviting appearance.

Not only will the removal of this filth and rubbish make the city appear more presentable, but it will add to the health of the people. Soon the weather will become so warm that much of this accumulation of the winter will begin to decay, and disease always follows in the wake of such decay.

Street Commissioner Tilton has been dragging many of the streets in the city that are not paved, and the city expects to clean up other streets and put them in condition for the spring and summer season.

Civic pride and a desire to promote the sanitary conditions of the city should prompt every one to clean up around and about their premises.

MRS. JOHN WARE IS DEAD.

After a Few Days' Illness of Asthma—Funeral at Bethany Church Saturday Afternoon.

EXERCISES AT NORMAL.

Arbor Day Observed and Many Trees Planted on the Grounds.

The Arbor day exercises at the Normal were carried out this morning as per schedule. After a brief program in the chapel, including a very impressive talk by Hon. W. A. Blagg, the students and faculty went to the campus in front of the building, where the trees were planted. The pupils of the training school recited some very appropriate quotations while the trees were being placed in the earth, and after this ceremony the planting song was sung. The trees are of the red cedar variety, and although they will not grow to a sufficient height to obscure the building from view they are planted in such a position to serve as a barrier to passing vehicles from driving on the campus.

The words of the "Planting Song," which is sung to the air of "America," are:

Grow thou and flourish well,
Ever the story tell
Of this glad day.

Long may thy branches raise
To heaven our grateful praise,
Wait them on sunlight rays
To God away.

Deep in the earth today
Safely thy roots we lay,
Tree of our love;
Grow thou and flourish long;

Ever our grateful song
Shall its glad notes prolong
To God above.

The average price made was $86 per head. Mr. Hooker brought home eight good ones to add to his herd.

HE TOOK WATCHES

C. M. HOUSTON OF THIS PLACE ARRESTED IN OMAHA.

WORKED FOR DESCHAU

Deputy Sheriff Evans Went to Nebraska Town and Will Return With the Prisoner Tonight.

C. M. Houston, who was formerly employed at R. Deschauer's jewelry store, was arrested at Omaha Thursday afternoon by Officer Davis, as Houston was peddling several watches around trying to sell them. Mr. Davis sent a telegram to John Wallace, chief of police, telling him about it and asked whether he had better hold him for investigation.

Mr. Wallace sent word back to keep Houston, and one of the officers would go to Omaha.

Deputy Sheriff George L. Evans left Thursday evening for that town. Houston told Evans that he had taken five watches, and said:

"I owed a man $40, and having no funds to pay it back, I took five watches and started to sell them to raise the money."

It was at first thought by the police authorities here that Houston might be implicated in the robbery that took place at Burlington Junction Tuesday night, that of robbing the Carter pharmacy, as several watches were taken. But it was learned Friday

Deschauer, where Houston had missed five watches, is thought that Mr. Houston had been

Probably the most active official in the state is Jess Tollerton, game warden. He draws a salary of $2,500 of the tax payers' money, but lately about all he seems to be doing, as Hadley's puppet, is working to throw the state's delegation to Roosevelt. He is so busy in politics that little time is left for official duties. A great many people, Republicans as well as Democrats, are getting tired of his pernicious political activity and neglect of duty, and think a halt should be called. Probably Tollerton thinks that as long as he has energetic deputies in their zeal for the cause work 365 days in the year at so much per diem that there is little left for him to do.—Albany Ledger.

TO EXCEL IN AIR AND ON SEA

GERMANY GIVING SPECIAL AT-TENTION TO AIRMANSHIP.

Everything indicates Her Determination to Have Aerial Navy Second to None in World.

Berlin, April 5.—At the dinner following the opening of the aeroplane exhibition here the emperor's sailor brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, delivered an address urging his countrymen to make sacrifices in order to increase the appropriations for the development of airman'ship, which, he said, is destined to play an ever increasing and more important role both in peace and in war.

The exhibition is devoted both to aeroplanes and airships, but the heavier-than-air craft of the military type are the overshadowing feature of the show.

One exhibitor at the salon is the kaiser's nephew, Prince Friedrich Sigismund of Prussia, who has designed a monoplane. The prince intends competing in his machine at the forthcoming flying week at Johannisbad.

It is plain from the spirit of the officers of both the army and the navy, as well as the remarks of Prince Henry, that Germany is determined to have an aerial navy second to none, even though her attempts to equal Great Britain's navy on the seas have filled that country with such alarm as to bring the two nations to the verge of war.

The "scientific society for flying technique" was organized under the presidency of Prince Henry. Its purpose is the systematic study of the problems of aeroplane construction and management.

CHANGE IN GAMBLE'S LUCK

Finds a $5 Bill. Then Two Tens, but the Next Find is Something Else.

George Gamble struck a streak of luck the other day. Mr. Gamble, incidentally, is manager of the Peru Marquette fast freight line. He walked into a hotel in Kansas, and there, upon the lobby floor, he saw a small green wad. "A $5 bill," marveled Mr.
Gamble when he unrolled it.

A week or so later he ambled into the lobby of another hotel in another state. The first thing his eyes lit upon was a pellet of green near the clerk's desk. Business of making a buried dive for it and then discovering two $10 bills, packed together.
Mr. Gamble observed that he was sure enough in the middle of the lucky curve. He wondered what he would find next.

He came to town, walked into the Cadillac, and there, in the middle of the lobby floor, appeared that familiar little emerald bulb. Mr. Gamble sidled toward it, trying to look as if he was looking another way. Just at that moment a small dog butted in.
He seized the little green wad and frolicked toward the street. Mr. Gamble abandoned his pretense at indifference and dived for the mutt.
"Grab um," begged Mr. Gamble;
"catch um."

A gentleman standing by the door obliged. He took the little bundle out of the dog's mouth, then he looked up at Mr. Gamble. "This yours?" he asked.

Mr. Gamble thought he would take a chance. "Yep," he said; "it's mine.
I just missed it."

The gentleman handed over the bundle with an odd look at Mr. Gamble, and went away hastily. Mr. Gamble examined it. The wrapper was of soft green paper. It had broken in several places from the dog's teeth.
Inside was a pair of lady's garters.—

ALL ALONE IN THE STORM

Inside, the Merry Country Party
Wotted Not of the Forlorn Figure
Out in the Cold.

It was bitter cold. The snow fell thickly, and, driven by the wind, it beat relentlessly against the faces of those who were not sheltered. A wild night, indeed. Midwinter, and in the open country, and one of the coldest nights in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

He stood not far from the winding, snowbound road, his face turned toward the highway. A forlorn object in that great storm.

His old felt hat, jammed roughly on his head, but ill-protected his face and ears from the chilly blasts. He wore no overcoat, only a light and muchfrayed jacket, more fitted, indeed, for summer weather than the zero temperature of that night. His hands were unprotected by gloves, while his trousers, thin and worn, fluttered about his legs. He wore no shoes.

Inside the great farm, close by, the lights blazed merrily, and through the windows, from which the shades were drawn, could be seen many young people passing hither and thither. A merry country party—youth and laughter.

And now through the storm others
make their way to the farmhouse.
They are bundled up warm and comfortable, and defy the snow and the cold. They are happy in the anticipation of the joyful evening before them.
Care and worry have no part in their minds.

They do not know that close by stands that ill-clothed figure, with arms stretched appealingly forth, and if they knew there would be no pity in their hearts.

For it was only the old farmer's scarecrow.—William Sanford in Puck.

Flight of a Honey Bee.

George S. Demuth, now with the United States department of agriculture, but until recently at the head of the apiaary department in the office of the state entomologist, tells in the forthcoming annual report of the apiaary department, of proof he has of the great speed attained by honey bees in their flight. Mr. Demuth was shipping some bees from Terre Haute to Indianapolis in a special traction car, when a few of the bees escaped from the boxes in which they were being transported.

"When the bees escaped," said Mr.
Demuth, "I watched their behavior and was surprised to find they had no difficulty in flying out at the open car door and flying ahead of the moving car. The car was going at the rate of 35 or 40 miles an hour. In my opinion, the flight of a honey bee must exceed the speed of the average railway train."

Smoking to Be Stopped.

Statistics gathered through investigation by the authorities of New York city show that 3,245 fires in 1910 and 3,332 in 1911 were caused by the carelessness of smokers, mostly in places of industry. Fire Commissioner Johnson, who has been studying the laws relating to the prevention of fires, as well as to their extinguishment, has discovered a statute which forbids acts which endanger the health or safety of any considerable number of persons, and he is going to attempt to make it applicable to smoking in factories. He has therefore ordered 40-000 notices—printed in English, Yiddish and Italian—prohibiting smoking in factory buildings. These will be universally distributed and followed by vigilant and constant inspection to prevent the violation of his order.

LaPorte, Ind.

The Teeth—It used to be that any person who wished to be called "doctor" and who could secure a dentist's chair and a simple set of forceps, might be a dentist. But the law took hold of the situation and demanded that the dentist should know something else about the teeth and their functions, beside simply possessing "main strength and awkwardness."

Now, in order to get a license to practice dentistry, the applicant must have a diploma from a school that teaches, not only the alveolar processes, but also enough of surgery and anatomy to enable one to judge of the condition of the teeth and the causes of their disease. With this has come much of science; the application of anesthetics to hinder the frightful pain that accompanies the extraction of teeth, etc.

Indigestion is frequently the cause of bad teeth, and often bad teeth are the cause of many distressing conditions of the entire system, especially nervousness and headache. They produce an almost unbearable bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, and many other disagreeable effects.

Indigestion weakens the secretions;
gases arise from the stomach, coating the mouth and tongue and making a perfect field for the microbes that attack the teeth; forming tartar and decay, and ulceration of the gums. The destructive microbes, in swarms, working upon the dentine, destroy the enamel and decay is certain to follow.

The teeth should be kept scrupulously clean. This prevents the accumulation of tartar by annihilating the microbes as fast as they congregate.
Besides, clean teeth are an element of common decency that one owes to his associates as well as to himself. Use a good tooth brush. What you pay for cigars in a day would buy all the tooth brushes you could use in ten years, and good ones at that. This applies to many other extravagances, besides, cigars, with both sexes. Brush the teeth several times every day, using soft water, and frequently use an antiseptic wash. Especially should the teeth be cleaned after eating, for then the particles of food that adhere to the interstices are removed and not left to decay, set up fermentation and form a colony of microbes, at every spot available to them.

Primitive people never had toothache
and the Indians—before "civilization" took charge of them—were noted for their white, perfect teeth. This was because of their simple diet, and simple life, generally.

A constant diet of hot soups, fresh meats, highly spiced food, and all sorts of indigestible stuff, is destructive to the teeth. Let the usual diet be of simple food, and reserve the rich things for occasional "high days and holidays." But there is no time when such food is taken that does not afterward demand special and particular care of the teeth, and some foreboding
—with those who know.

Have a dentist examine your teeth
once every season—spring, summer, autumn and winter—and have him remove the tartar, if any has accumulated. If there is a decayed tooth have it filled, there and then, if he thinks it can be saved, otherwise have it extracted.

In short, take perfect care of your teeth and your digestion, and the chances are ten thousand to one that you will never have tooth ache, de-cayed teeth, bad breath and the many other disagreeable accessories of carelessness in this regard.

Dear Doctor: Please tell me what to do for feet that perspire during the winter.
D. O.

For one week, every night before retiring, wash your feet in water just as hot as can be borne. Keep them in the hot water half way up to the knees.
Have a painful of ice cold water ready and plunge them directly into it, keeping them in it only twenty seconds.
Rub briskly until dry, and go to bed.
After the week's treatment apply the following: One pint vinegar, 1 teaspoonful red pepper, 1 teaspoonful salt. Put on fire and simmer slowly until reduced to one-half. Strain and rub solution in thoroughly. Two applications three nights apart should complete the cure. Do not neglect this condition as it is liable to lead to more serious troubles. In many cases of this kind the same profuse perspiration comes from the armpits. A hot fomentation must be used there, then the cold, etc.

Dear Doctor: I have had gastralgia almost ten years; violent attacks affect the heart; have nervous chills; feel sometimes as if going insane. I have doctored but seems to do me no good.
J. O. A.

Medical treatment alone cannot cure
you. I consider fasting the most effective plan of treating such a condition, for it will thoroughly cleanse the alimentary canal of impurities. A fast for six to ten days, to be followed with a milk diet, will, I believe, prove best for you. The milk diet is managed as follows: During the fast you should drink two or three quarts of water daily and may take the juice of one to four oranges. Then to begin with the milk, warm one cupful of it in a double boiler, add one cupful of hot water and sip slowly with a teaspoon. Repeat every three hours during the first day.
The first food of each day should be a glassful of orange juice, then an hour afterward the milk and water. The second day add a little less water to the milk, and take the feedings two hours apart. Reduce the water gradually until you are taking whole milk,

a cupful every hour or every half hour as you seem to need it. Taking it this way will not lead to constipation.

The Proof That Maryville Readers Cannot Deny.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Miss Harriett McClurg, 405 East Thompson street, Maryville, Mo., says: "I gave a public statement in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills in September, 1908. Since then I have had occasional attacks of kidney complaint, and I have always used Doan's Kidney Pills successfully at such times. I recommend them whenever an opportunity is given me. I was troubled with pain and weakness in my back and hips and could hardly get about. Doan's Kidney Pills corrected these troubles immediately, and after using them I felt better in every way."

MADE ANARCHISTS SALUTE THE FLAG

One Hundred I. W. M. Men Kissed National Emblem.

WERE MARCHED OUT OF TOWN

Armed Posse Compelled them to Show Respect to National Emblem, Then Started All on March.

San Diego, Cal., April 5.—One hundred Industrial Workers of the World, almost all of whom admitted that they were anarchists, knelt on the ground and kissed the folds of an American flag at early dawn near San Onofre, a small settlement a short distance this side of the Orange county boundary line.

The ceremony, which was most unwillingly performed, was witnessed by 45 deputy constables and a large body of armed citizens of San Diego. The men who were thus forced to show respect to the national emblem composed the party that left Santa Ana on a freight train the night before, and whose coming was awaited by the deputies and armed citizens, who had gone out in automobiles to meet them and drive them back. The Industrial Workers were stopped at San Onofre and detained there until morning.

Started North on Foot.

After the flag kissing, the Industrial Workers were divided into squads of five and placed in command of details of deputies. Then the march to the line was started and the procession moved to the tune of "The Star Spangled Banner." In which the Industrial Workers were compelled to make at least a show of joining. At the Orange county line the men who had come from Santa Ana were given a parting admonition to keep out of San Diego county. They started north on the railway track.

"Revolution" is Failing.

Seattle, Wash., April 5.—Dispatches from British Columbia and Washington points, where the Industrial Workers of the World have undertaken to tie up the construction of two great transcontinental railways and the lumber industry, indicate that the "revolution," as their leaders call the strike, is not making progress. The Grand Trunk Pacific men still are at work and the rainy weather along the Canadian Northern has discouraged the Canadian Northern strikers, who sleep outdoors in blankets.

The strikers know that the promoters of these railroads are determined to build a certain amount of track this year to have the roads in operation on fixed dates next year, and that the companies will not permit the contractors to lie idle for any long period. Hence the strikers believe they can bring the contractors to terms.

PLENTY OF APPLES IN MISSOURI

Crop This Year Will be Unusually Large—Peaches and Pears Will be Scarce.

Columbia, Mo., April 5.—The people of Missouri, if they depend on home-grown fruit, will have to content themselves with eating apples this year, according to Prof. W. L. Howard of the horticultural department of the University of Missouri. There will be an unusually large crop of apples, he says, but little of the other fruits. There is no hope for peaches and the pear crop has been killed with the exception of the extreme southern part of the state, where satisfactory crops may be expected in certain localities.

The small fruit, such as blackberries and raspberries, have suffered much damage. Grapes have been damaged considerably in many communities, but cherries probably will make a fair crop.

HOISINGTON MOB KILLS NEGRO

After Shooting Four Men While Drunk, is Surrounded by Furious Crowd.

Hoisington, Kan., April 5.—An unidentified drunken negro, who has been working in the Missouri Pacific shops here for several days, shot four men with a revolver about 5 o'clock. He was surrounded by an infuriated crowd and riddled with bullets within one hour after the shooting. Of the four men shot, Charles Lovin is dead, C. W. Layman is dying, and a Greek John Dados, and a negro porter, Lee Hane, are wounded severely.

Changes in Missouri Faculty.

Columbia, Mo., April 5.—Edward W. Hinton, a professor in the school of law, was appointed by the curators to succeed John D. Lawson as dean of the school. Judge Lawson has resigned, beginning with the next school year. He will continue as professor in the school of law.

Teamster Saved $70,000.

FEDERALS AGAIN DEFEND PARRAL

After Routing Campa's Troops Retire Within City's Walls.

REBEL'S WIFE WAS IN BATTLE

Fought Like a Veteran Till Husband Was Killed—President Allows Exemption of Big Shipment of Arms to Madero.

Jimenez, Mex., April 5.—The federal defenders of Parral again are within its adobe walls sustaining the fire of the re-enforced rebels. Through the afternoon there was fighting near Baco, 20 miles distant, between the rebel rear guard under Maj. Quedada and the federals who pursued Campa from Parral.

A woman who accompanied her husband on the march fought bravely in the trenches, handling a rifle like a veteran. Her husband was killed just as the retreat was about to begin. The woman got a horse and attempted to save the body. The horse tired on the retreat and began to drop behind. The federals were steadily pressing the pursuit, and soon got her range.

She kept bravely on, the target of a storm of bullets, until, unnerved by the panic stricken flight of others, she dismounted. Tenderly she deposited her burden by the roadside and fled after the others.

Gen. Orozco declared that within 24 hours the city will be his. Until this has been accomplished it will be impossible to move against Torreón. The region south of Escalon, which marks the southern limits of rebel control, is being watched closely by scouts.

When Campa had planted his rapid firers and his field mortars he called the mayor of Parral by telephone and demanded the surrender of the city. The latter refused abruptly.

Fire Fiercest Ever Known.

Sam Drebin of Philadelphia, adventurer in many revolutions and now a captain of artillery, opened up with his rapid firers and the crowd melted from their exposed positions.

In fancied security the rebels had pressed closer and closer, when suddenly bullets seemed to come from everywhere. Villa had almost accomplished an enveloping movement and Campa awoke from his illusion of safety to find himself in a critical predicament. Capt Drebin declared that the fire was the most severe he ever had known.

In another hour the federal sharpshooters had silenced the rebel artillery, and presently the retreat, which soon became a rout, began.

Let Arms Through to Madero.

Washington, April 5.—President Taft authorized the exportation to Mexico of five big shipments of munitions of war consigned to the forces of President Madero. These included two machine guns, other arms and ammunition, horses and blankets. The president also gave permission for the exportation of dynamite for a mining company in Sonora.

TO LEARN KANSAS FARM METHODS

Young Russian Railroad Clerk Seeks Pointers to Help Reach Success on His Own Place.

Topeka, April 5.—Tryphon Kotoff, a clerk in railway offices at Moscow, Russia, has heard the call of the soil and came to Topeka to get some pointers as to where to go to study Kansas agricultural methods for a few weeks. Then he is going to New Mexico and thence to California before going home to buy a farm in southern Russia and raise wheat and alfalfa.

Kotoff was never on a farm in his life and has been a student and clerk in railway offices for some 15 years. He was raised in Moscow. But he took one year off and studied farming in England and then came to this country and was a farmhand in Mississippi for some weeks before coming to Kansas.

Parsons Machinist Killed.

Parsons, Kan., April 5.—While stepping from between two sections of a freight train here Ed Scheffner, chief machinist at Missouri, Kansas & Texas shops here, was struck by a passing switch engine. His right leg was severed and he died soon after.

Strikers Riot in New York.

Utica, N. Y., April 5.—Martial law was declared at New York Mills and Yorkville, two suburban villages of this city, because of rioting in connection with the strike of employees of the New York Mills company. Two militia companies are on guard.

Hiawatha Round House Burned.

Hiawatha, Kan., April 5.—The Grand Island roundhouse here burned. A freight engine, a steel motor car and the pumping station, nearby, were totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at $50,000. Defective wiring probably caused the fire.

Three Dead in a Wreck.

Chicago, April 5.—Three persons, including a woman and her one-year-old child, were killed and 15 were injured when a Chicago & Alton train crashed into a street car filled with passengers here.

TO INVESTIGATE ATCHISON DEATH

Young Husband Found Dead at Rear of His Home.

AUTHORITIES SUSPECT POISON

County Attorney Will Not Allow Body to be Removed Without Autopsy —Wife Says He Had Complain of Heart Trouble.

Atchison, Kan., April 5.—Mystery surrounds the death of Otto G. Foster, 21 years old, who was found dead by his wife at the rear of his home at noon. A physician said Foster died of heart disease.

It was rumored he committed suicide. But now there are rumors hinting at something even more serious. An intimate friend of Foster has said that Foster had told him several times that if he ever died suddenly to have his death investigated.

Foster applied for $2,000 life insurance two months ago, but as he never paid the first premium the policy had not been in effect. Mrs. Foster, however, was not aware of that, as she has made an effort to find the policies.

She says her husband left the dinner table complaining that the coffee was unusually hot. He went out in the yard, where he died. An autopsy will be held to determine the cause of death. Foster had a baby girl four months old and had been married two years. He and his wife had been separated several times. He was a salesman for a piano house.

Mrs. Foster is 22 years old. She has displayed little emotion. She said she suspected that death might have been due to a drug which Foster began taking to cure him of smoking. She spoke of having the drug analyzed.

Died in Convulsions.

One of the men who helped carry Foster to the house said he apparently had died in convulsions. Physicians say that there is practically no struggle when death is due to heart trouble.

Although Mrs. Foster expects to take the body to Caledonia, Ia., for burial, County Attorney Moxey says he will see that it is not moved until an autopsy is held. The fact that Foster seemed to have a presentiment of his death lead the authorities to suspect that he was poisoned.

Mrs. Foster was preparing for a trip to Illinois, but says she postponed it because her husband complained a few days ago that he was having trouble with his heart. Foster's parents live at Hatfield, Mo. He came here a year ago.

Winfield, Kan., April 5.—A Brinkerhoff of Sedan was killed here at 8:30 in the morning by a freight train. He had been at the St. Mary's hospital here for several weeks, and the worry of an impending operation had unsettled his mind. Early in the morning he wandered away and began catching at projections of a passing train in the Southern Kansas yards. He was jerked between the cars. He had been superintendent of schools at Sedan and Cedarvale.

Probably the most active official in the state is Jess Tollerton, game warden. He draws a salary of $2,500 of the tax payers' money, but lately about all he seems to be doing, as Hadley's prophet, is working to throw the state's delegation to Roosevelt. He is so busy in politics that little time is left for official duties. A great many people, Republicans as well as Democrats, are getting tired of his pernicious political activity and neglect of duty, and think a halt should be called. Probably Tollerton thinks that as long as he has energetic deputies who in their zeal for the cause work 365 days in the year at so much per diem that there is little left for him to do.—Albany Ledger.

TO EXCEL IN AIR AND ON SEA

GERMANY GIVING SPECIAL ATTENTION TO AIRMANSHIP.

Everything Indicates Her Determination to Have Aerial Navy Second to None in World.

Berlin, April 5.—At the dinner following the opening of the aeroplane exhibition here the emperor's sailor brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, delivered an address urging his countrymen to make sacrifices in order to increase the appropriations for the development of airmanhood, which, he said, is destined to play an ever-increasing and more important role both in peace and in war.

The exhibition is devoted both to aeroplanes and airships, but the heavier-than-air craft of the military type are the overshadowing feature of the show.

One exhibitor at the salon is the kaiser's nephew, Prince Friedrich Sigismund of Prussia, who has designed a monoplane. The prince intends competing in his machine at the forthcoming flying week at Johannisthal.

It is plain from the spirit of the officers of both the army and the navy, as well as the remarks of Prince Henry, that Germany is determined to have an aerial navy second to none, even though her attempts to equal Great Britain's navy on the seas have failed that country with such alarm as to bring the two nations to the verge of war.

The "scientific society for flying technique" was organized under the presidency of Prince Henry. Its purpose is the systematic study of the problems of aeroplane construction and management.

Dandruff and scalp itch are both caused by an accumulation of scurfy filth and can easily be gotten rid of.

CHANGE IN GAMBLE'S LUCK

Finds a $5 Bill, Then Two Tens, but the Next Find Is Something Else.

George Gamble struck a streak of luck the other day. Mr. Gamble, incidentally, is manager of the Pere Marquette fast freight line. He walked into a hotel in Kansas, and there, upon the lobby floor, he saw a small green wad. "A $5 bill," marveled Mr. Gamble when he unrolled it.

A week or so later he ambled into the lobby of another hotel in another state. The first thing his eyes lit upon was a pellet of green near the clerk's desk. Business of making a hurried dive for it and then discovering two $10 bills, packed together. Mr. Gamble observed that he was sure enough in the middle of the lucky curve. He wondered what he would find next.

He came to town, walked into the Cadillac, and there, in the middle of the lobby floor, appeared that familiar little emerald bulb. Mr. Gamble sidled toward it, trying to look as if he was looking another way. Just at that moment a small dog butted in. He seized the little green wad and frolicked toward the street. Mr. Gamble abandoned his pretense at indifference and dived for the mutt. "Grab um," begged Mr. Gamble; "catch um."

A gentleman standing by the door obliged. He took the little bundle out of the dog's mouth; then he looked up at Mr. Gamble. "This yours?" he asked.

Mr. Gamble thought he would take a chance. "Yep," he said; "it's mine. I just missed it."

The gentleman handed over the bundle with an odd look at Mr. Gamble, and went away hastily. Mr. Gamble examined it. The wrapper was of soft green paper. It had broken in several places from the dog's teeth. Inside was a pair of lady's garters.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

ALL ALONE IN THE STORM

Inside, the Merry Country Party Wotted Not of the Forlorn Figure Out in the Cold.

It was bitter cold. The snow fell thickly, and, driven by the wind, it beat relentlessly against the faces of those who were not sheltered. A wild night, indeed. Midwinter, and in the open country, and one of the coldest nights in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

He stood not far from the winding, snowbound road, his face turned toward the highway. A forlorn object in that great storm.

His old felt hat, jammed roughly on his head, but ill-protected his face and ears from the chilly blasts. He wore no overcoat, only a light and much-frayed jacket, more fitted, indeed, for summer weather than the zero temperature of that night. His hands were unprotected by gloves, while his trousers, thin and worn, fluttered about his legs. He wore no shoes.

Inside the great farm, close by, the lights blazed merrily, and through the windows, from which the shades were drawn, could be seen many young people passing blither and blither. A merry country party—youth and laughter.

And now through the storm others make their way to the farmhouse. They are bundled up warm and comfortable, and defy the snow and the cold. They are happy in the anticipation of the joyful evening before them. Care and worry have no part in their minds.

They do not know that close by stands that ill-clad figure, with arms stretched appealingly forth, and if they knew there would be no pity in their hearts.

For it was only the old farmer's scarecrow.—William Sanford in Puck.

Flight of a Honey Bee.

George S. Demuth, now with the United States department of agriculture, but until recently at the head of the apary department in the office of the state entomologist, tells in the forthcoming annual report of the apary department, of proof he has of the great speed attained by honey bees in their flight. Mr. Demuth was shipping some bees from Terre Haute to Indianapolis in a special traction car, when a few of the bees escaped from the boxes in which they were being transported.

"When the bees escaped," said Mr. Demuth, "I watched their behavior and was surprised to find they had no difficulty in flying out at the open car door and flying ahead of the moving car. The car was going at the rate of 35 or 40 miles an hour. In my opinion, the flight of a honey bee must exceed the speed of the average railway train."

Smoking to Be Stopped.

Statistics gathered through investigation by the authorities of New York city show that 3,245 fires in 1910 and 3,332 in 1911 were caused by the carelessness of smokers, mostly in places of industry. Fire Commissioner Johnson, who has been studying the laws relating to the prevention of fires, as well as to their extinguishment, has discovered a statute which forbids acts which endanger the health or safety of any considerable number of persons, and he is going to attempt to make it applicable to smoking in factories. He has therefore ordered 40,000 notices—printed in English, Yiddish and Italian—prohibiting smoking in factory buildings. These will be universally distributed and followed by vigilant and constant inspection to prevent the violation of his order.

Home Health Club

By DR. DAVID H. REEDER, LaPorte, Ind.

The Teeth—It used to be that any person who wished to be called "doctor" and who could secure a dentist's chair and a simple set of forceps, might be a dentist. But the law took hold of the situation and demanded that the dentist should know something else about the teeth and their functions, beside simply possessing "main strength and awkwardness."

Now, in order to get a license to practice dentistry, the applicant must have a diploma from a school that teaches, not only the alveolar processes, but also enough of surgery and anatomy to enable one to judge of the condition of the teeth and the causes of their disease. With this has come much of science; the application of anesthetics to hinder the frightful pain that accompanies the extraction of teeth, etc.

Indigestion is frequently the cause of bad teeth, and often bad teeth are the cause of many distressing conditions of the entire system, especially nervousness and headache. They produce an almost unbearable bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, and many other disagreeable effects.

Indigestion weakens the secretions; gases arise from the stomach, coating the mouth and tongue and making a perfect field for the microbes that attack the teeth; forming tartar and decay, and ulceration of the gums. The destructive microbes, in swarms, working upon the dentine, destroy the enamel and decay is certain to follow.

The teeth should be kept scrupulously clean. This prevents the accumulation of tartar by annihilating the microbes as fast as they congregate. Besides, clean teeth are an element of common decency that one owes to his associates as well as to himself. Use a good tooth brush. What you pay for cigars in a day would buy all the tooth brushes you could use in ten years, and good ones at that. This applies to many other extravagances, besides, cigars, with both sexes. Brush the teeth several times every day, using soft water, and frequently use an antiseptic wash. Especially should the teeth be cleaned after eating, for then the particles of food that adhere to the interstices are removed and not left to decay, set up fermentation and form a colony of microbes, at every spot available to them.

Primitive people never had toothache and the Indians—before "civilization" took charge of them—were noted for their white, perfect teeth. This was because of their simple diet, and simple life, generally.

A constant diet of hot soups, fresh meats, highly spiced food, and all sorts of indigestible stuff, is destructive to the teeth. Let the usual diet be of simple food, and reserve the rich things for occasional "high days and holidays." But there is no time when such food is taken that does not afterward demand special and particular care of the teeth, and some foreboding—with those who know.

Have a dentist examine your teeth once every season—spring, summer, autumn and winter—and have him remove the tartar, if any has accumulated. If there is a decayed tooth have it filled, there and then, if he thinks it can be saved, otherwise have it extracted.

In short, take perfect care of your teeth and your digestion, and the chances are ten thousand to one that you will never have tooth ache, decayed teeth, bad breath and the many other disagreeable accessories of carelessness in this regard.

Dear Doctor: Please tell me what to do for feet that perspire during the winter. D. O.

For one week, every night before retiring, wash your feet in water just as hot as can be borne. Keep them in the hot water half way up to the knees. Have a pailful of ice cold water ready and plunge them directly into it, keeping them in it only twenty seconds. Rub briskly until dry, and go to bed. After the week's treatment apply the following: One pint vinegar, 1 teaspoonful red pepper, 1 teaspoonful salt. Put on fire and simmer slowly until reduced to one-half. Strain and rub solution in thoroughly. Two applications three nights apart should complete the cure. Do not neglect this condition as it is liable to lead to more serious troubles. In many cases of this kind the same profuse perspiration comes from the armpits. A hot fomentation must be used there, then the cold, etc.

Dear Doctor: I have had gastralgia almost ten years; violent attacks affect the heart; have nervous chills; feel sometimes as if going insane. I have doctored but seems to do me no good. J. O. A.

Medical treatment alone cannot cure you. I consider fasting the most effective plan of treating such a condition, for it will thoroughly cleanse the alimentary canal of impurities. A fast for six to ten days, to be followed with a milk diet, will, I believe, prove best for you. The milk diet is managed as follows: During the fast you should drink two or three quarts of water daily and may take the juice of one to four oranges. Then to begin with the milk, warm one cupful of it in a double boiler, add one cupful of hot water and sip slowly with a teaspoon. Repeat every three hours during the first day. The first food of each day should be a glassful of orange juice, then an hour afterward the milk and water. The second day add a little less water to

One Hundred I. W. W. Men Kissed National Emblem.

WERE MARCHED OUT OF TOWN

Armed Posse Compelled them to Show Respect to National Emblem, Then Started All on March.

San Diego, Cal., April 5.—One hundred Industrial Workers of the World, almost all of whom admitted that they were anarchists, knelt on the ground and kissed the folds of an American flag at early dawn near San Onofre, a small settlement a short distance this side of the Orange county boundary line.

The ceremony, which was most unwillingly performed, was witnessed by 45 deputy constables and a large body of armed citizens of San Diego. The men who were thus forced to show respect to the national emblem composed the party that left Santa Ana on a freight train the night before, and whose coming was awaited by the deputies and armed citizens, who had gone out in automobiles to meet them and drive them back. The Industrial Workers were stopped at San Onofre and detained there until morning.

Started North on Foot.

After the flag kissing, the Industrial Workers were divided into squads of five and placed in command of details of deputies. Then the march to the line was started and the procession moved to the tune of "The Star Spangled Banner," in which the Industrial Workers were compelled to make at least a show of joining. At the Orange county line the men who had come from Santa Ana were given a parting admonition to keep out of San Diego county. They started north on the railway track.

"Revolution" is Failing.

Seattle, Wash., April 5.—Dispatches from British Columbia and Washington points, where the Industrial Workers of the World have undertaken to tie up the construction of two great transcontinental railways and the lumber industry, indicate that the "revolution," as their leaders call the strike, is not making progress. The Grand Trunk Pacific men still are at work and the rainy weather along the Canadian Northern has discouraged the Canadian Northern strikers, who sleep outdoors in blankets.

The strikers know that the promoters of the great railroads are determined to build a certain amount of track this year to have the roads in operation on fixed dates next year, and that the companies will not permit the contractors to lie idle for any long period. Hence the strikers believe they can bring the contractors to terms.

PLENTY OF APPLES IN MISSOURI

Crop This Year Will be Unusually Large—Peaches and Pears Will be Scarce.

Columbia, Mo., April 5.—The people of Missouri, if they depend on home-grown fruit, will have to content themselves with eating apples this year, according to Prof. W. L. Howard of the horticultural department of the University of Missouri. There will be an unusually large crop of apples, he says, but little of the other fruits. There is no hope for peaches and the pear crop has been killed with the exception of the "extreme southern part of the state, where satisfactory crops may be expected in certain localities.

The small fruit, such as blackberries and raspberries, have suffered much damage. Grapes have been damaged considerably in many communities, but cherries probably will make a fair crop.

HOISINGTON MOB KILLS NEGRO

After Shooting Four Men While Drunk, is Surrounded by Furious Crowd.

Hoisington, Kan., April 5.—An unidentified drunken negro, who has been working in the Missouri Pacific shops here for several days, shot four men with a revolver about 5 o'clock. He was surrounded by an infuriated crowd and riddled with bullets within one hour after the shooting. Of the four men shot, Charles Lovin is dead, C. W. Layman is dying, and a Greek John Dados, and a negro porter, Lee Hane, are wounded severely.

FEDERALS AGAIN DEFEND PARRAL

After Routing Campa's Troops Retire Within City's Walls.

REBEL'S WIFE WAS IN BATTLE

Fought Like a Veteran Till Husband Was Killed—President Allows Expiration of Big Shipment of Arms to Madero.

Jimenez, Mex., April 5.—The federal defenders of Parral again are within its adobe walls sustaining the fire of the re-enforced rebels. Through the afternoon there was fighting near Baca, 20 miles distant, between the rebel rear guard under Maj. Quevada and the federals who pursued Campa from Parral.

A woman who accompanied her husband on the march fought bravely in the trenches, handling a rifle like a veteran. Her husband was killed just as the retreat was about to begin. The woman got a horse and attempted to save the body. The horse tired on the retreat and began to drop behind. The federals were steadily pressing the pursuit, and soon got her there.

She kept bravely on, the target of a storm of bullets, until, unnerved by the panic stricken flight of others, she dismounted. Tenderly she deposited her burden by the roadside and fled after the others.

Gen. Orozco declared that within 24 hours the city will be his. Until this has been accomplished it will be impossible to move against Torreon. The region south of Escalon, which marks the southern limits of rebel control, is being watched closely by scouts.

When Campa had planted his rapid fire and his field mortars he called the mayor of Parral by telephone and demanded the surrender of the city. The latter refused abruptly.

Fire Fiercest Ever Known.

Sam Drebin of Philadelphia, adventurer in many revolutions and now a captain of artillery, opened up with his rapid fire and the crowd melted from their exposed positions.

In fanned security the rebels had pressed closer and closer, when suddenly bullets seemed to come from everywhere. Villa had almost accomplished an enveloping movement and Campa awoke from his illusion of safety to find himself in a critical predicament. Capt Drebin declared that the fire was the most severe he ever had known.

In another hour the federal sharpshooters had silenced the rebel artillery, and presently the retreat, which soon became a rout, began.

Let Arms Through to Madero.

Washington, April 5.—President Taft authorized the exportation to Mexico of five big shipments of munitions of war consigned to the forces of President Madero. These included two machine guns, other arms and ammunition, horses and blankets. The president also gave permission for the exportation of dynamite for a mining company in Sonora.

TO LEARN KANSAS FARM METHODS

Young Russian Railroad Clerk Seeks Pointers to Help Reach Success on His Own Place.

Topeka, April 5.—Tryphon Kotoff, a clerk in railway offices at Moscow, Russia, has heard the call of the soil and came to Topeka to get some pointers as to where to go to study Kansas agricultural methods for a few weeks. Then he is going to New Mexico and thence to California before going home to buy a farm in northern Russia and raise wheat and alfalfa.

Kotoff was never on a farm in his life and has been a student and clerk in railway offices for some 15 years. He was raised in Moscow. But he took one year off and studied farming in England and then came to this country and was a farmhand in Mississippi for some weeks before coming to Kansas.

Parsons Machinist Killed.

Hiawatha, Kan., April 5.—The Grand Island roundhouse here burned. A freight engine, a steel motor car and the pumping station, nearby, were totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at $50,000. Defective wiring probably caused the fire.

TO INVESTIGATE ATCHISON DEATH

Young Husband Found Dead at Rear of His Home.

AUTHORITIES SUSPECT POISON

County Attorney Will Not Allow Body to be Removed Without Autopsy —Wife Says He Had Complained of Heart Trouble.

Atchison, Kan., April 5.—Mystery surrounds the death of Otto G. Foster, 21 years old, who was found dead by his wife at the rear of his home at noon. A physician said Foster died of heart disease.

It was rumored he committed suicide. But now there are rumors hinting at something even more serious. An intimate friend of Foster has said that Foster had told him several times that if he ever died suddenly to have his death investigated. Foster applied for $2,000 life insurance two months ago, but as he never paid the first premium the policy had not been in effect. Mrs. Foster, however, was not aware of that, as she has made an effort to find the policies.

She says her husband left the dinner table complaining that the coffee was unusually hot. He went out in the yard, where he died. An autopsy will be held to determine the cause of death. Foster had a baby girl four months old and had been married two years. He and his wife had been separated several times. He was a salesman for a piano house.

Mrs. Foster is 22 years old. She has displayed little emotion. She said she suspected that death might have been due to a drug which Foster began taking to cure him of smoking. She spoke of having the drug analyzed.

Died in Convulsions.

One of the men who helped carry Foster to the house said he apparently had died in convulsions. Physicians say that there is practically no struggle when death is due to heart trouble.

Although Mrs. Foster expects to take the body to Caledonia, Ia., for burial, County Attorney Moxey says he will see that it is not moved until an autopsy is held. The fact that Foster seemed to have a presentiment of his death lead the authorities to suspect that he was poisoned.

Mrs. Foster was preparing for a trip to Illinois, but says she postponed it because her husband complained a few days ago that he was having trouble with his heart. Foster's parents live at Hatfield, Mo. He came here a year ago.

KANSAS EDUCATOR UNDER CARS

Sedan Teacher Killed at Winfield While Wandering Through Railroad Yards.

Winfield, Kan., April 5.—A Brinkerhoff of Sedan was killed here at 8:30 in the morning by a freight train. He had been at the St. Mary's hospital here for several weeks, and the worry of an impending operation had unsettled his mind. Early in the morning he wandered away and began catching at projections of a passing train in the Southern Kansas yards. He was jerked between the cars. He had been superintendent of schools at Sedan and Cedarvale.

Waboo, Neb., April 5.—Louis Bayour shot and killed his wife at their home here and then committed suicide. The crime is said to be due to domestic trouble.

The Perpetual Silo
A Silo Built of Hollow Clay Blocks

To the Farmer:

Are you contemplating building a silo this year? If so, why not build one of everlasting material, a silo that will keep the ensilage better than any other silo on the market day, a silo that will not blow down, one which has no guys in the way, no hoops to lighten, no paint, the only silo that can be insured against fire or wind storm—the Hollow Clay Silo. Once built always built, no after maintenance.

We will erect you a Block Silo complete with a foundation and roof as cheap as you can have a wood silo put up when you consider the foundation and roof, and the cost of painting and painting of the wood silo.

A wood silo agent never lights in a community where a Block Silo has been erected, because he knows it would be better for him to be a Block Silo agent.

The Block Silos are not so well known as the wood silos, because they are newer, but when once introduced into a community they prove themselves so much more superior that they are the only silo that will last.

Playerfarmers will have no other. The Block Silo has been tested thoroughly in every instance and it will stand up to any test.

Col. Graham's Umbrella

By Lawrence Alfred Clay

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press)

Col. Charles Graham, retired and a widower, and also the father of Miss Maude Graham, was walking the floor in one of his tantrums. The colonel was a man of tantrums. He had them every hour of the day if there was the least excuse for it, and he had been known to get up four times during the night to yell at passersby, who were talking, whistling or singing.

The colonel had small tantrums and large tantrums. A small tantrum was discharging the cook after dinner and hiring her over again before breakfast. A large tantrum consisted of striding up and down, waving his arms, kicking at chairs, and exclaiming at his daughter:

"By the blood of Bunker Hill, but I won't stand it—I won't stand it! Do you hear what I say!"

"Yes, father."

"After 14 battles and 22 skirmishes I will not put up with such things. I will appeal to the sword! I will appeal to the law! Why, then, girl, I'll—I'll—I'll—"

"And he'll go off to take something from a bottle and smoke a cigar and forget all about it. This tantrum was the champion tantrum of weeks. He sat Maude down in a chair, and after drawing a long breath and pounding on the wall with his fist he roared:

"It was your fault—all your fault!"

"I don't see how," was the mild protest.

"No, you don't see how. You never see how! You will never see how till I am dead. Wasn't there a special sale of umbrellas advertised?"

"Yes, father."

"And didn't I go to town to buy one?"

"You did."

"And wasn't it a regular five-dollar umbrella at $3.25?"

"It was."

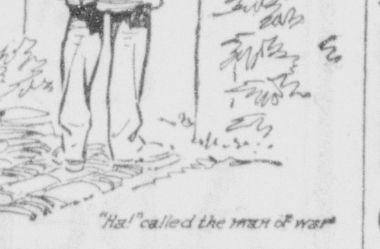

"And I had had it but a week when I had to go uptown again. You said I had better take the umbrella along as it looked like rain. Don't dispute me!"

"Yes, I said so."

"And I was fool enough to do it; and where is that demitition umbrella now—where—where?"

"And you left it on the train."

"And if you hadn't advised me to take it would I have taken it? And if I hadn't taken it would it have been lost? And now—now I am without a silk umbrella! After 14 battles and 22 skirmishes and an unblemished record of 40 years I have no umbrella! Think of it! Think of it!"

"Hat" called the man of war

"But, father, if you hadn't left it on the train," softly answered Miss Maude.

"But I never left it on the train. Some thief among the passengers took it, and I'll run him to earth if it takes ten years! I may have said I thought I left it on the train, but now I know I didn't. I know it was stolen. You advised me to carry it, and it was stolen! A court-martial would convict you in five minutes."

The colonel advertised for the lost or stolen umbrella. He advertised that he would give a reward of $10 to learn the identity of the thief. When he had discovered it he was going to do things with that thief to make the tortures of the inquisition seem a farce by comparison. He never expected the advertisement to be answered, but he patted himself on the back after its insertion. He had shown the public that he was no worm to be walked on.

When the colonel had purchased the umbrella he had had his initials "C. G. G." engraved on the handle. He had given them in his ad. Three days later, as he stood at his gate wondering who he could pick a row with, along came a middle-aged man with an umbrella in his hand.

"Hat" called the man of war.

"Hat your self!" replied the other.

"You are the man that advertised a stolen umbrella, aren't you?"

"Yes, and you've got it there!"

"You go slow, sir! I bought this at a special sale at A. & G.'s, and here's my ticket to prove that I did."

"But there's my initials right there!" shouted the colonel.

"And they are also mine. My name is Cyrus Grant. I've come from town to tell you that you'd better be careful how you fling the word 'thief' around. For two cents I'd have the law on you!"

The colonel flew into the house and told Maude that she had brought about the insult to him, and then discharged the cook without a character, and sat down to remember the

there were 12 umbrellas of the same make and style in that lot. That made 11 others just like his. Of course, all the buyers, couldn't have initials the same as his, but after an hour he was almost ready to admit to himself that he had been a little hasty—just a bit. For that reason he went out and told the cook that she might stay on a day or two longer. That was as far as he would go.

That evening, after dinner, as he had got snugged down in his easy chair for a smoke and a think the doorbell rang in an imperious way, and after a moment a young man was admitted. He carried a rolled umbrella in his hand. The moment Miss Maude caught sight of it she fled from the room.

"Well, sir?" demanded the colonel, without looking at the card the other handed him.

"I am traveling for the house of Perkins & Smith," was the reply.

"Well?"

"A few days ago I bought an umbrella at a special sale."

"Ah! My umbrella—the one stolen from me a few days ago! My initials right here, sir!"

"And they are mine, also! Look at the card in your hand and you will see that I am Claude Gillette. I have read your ad, sir, and am here to demand an apology. I am being twitted by all my friends with being an umbrella thief. I can prove that I bought this at A. & G.'s sir."

The colonel wouldn't apologize. The best he would do was to discharge the cook again and try to make himself believe that both men were liars. Next day a third man appeared. He had a rolled umbrella in his hand. He was about the colonel's age, and he was also a man who had tantrums.

"Sixty-five years of a record in office and out that cannot be impeached!" he shouted, "and yet the day has come when I am charged with stealing an umbrella! There it is, sir! Look at it! Look at my initials! Look at this ticket to see that it came from A. & G.'s! Apologize, sir—apologize at once! My name, sir, is Clarence Georges."

There were some hot words and threats were made, but the colonel finally cooled down and hired the cook over again. Having discharged her but a few hours before, he must retire her before he could hand out any more walking papers.

And a fourth man came and talked about arrest and prosecution, and he and the colonel called each other liars. Then the latter, fearing that a fifth man might arrive, went off to his club to play dominoes.

The fifth man came with a rolled umbrella and the initials "C. G." on the handle. He was a young man and he had his interview with Miss Maude just after an exciting episode.

"I saw Col. Graham's advertisement," he said, "and I have called to restore his property. I must have taken it quite by mistake."

"But you didn't," she replied.

"You couldn't, you see, for here is his. I just found it in his room. He didn't have it with him at all that day."

"Then—then—"

Then they both smiled. Then the colonel appeared and said it was funny, and the cook must be discharged, and—and—

If frequent calls at the colonel's residence by Mr. Claude Georges means anything, they mean that Miss Maude favored him as a caller.

BRITISH MINERS RESUME WORK

FIFTY THOUSAND HAVE RETURNED TO SHAFTS.

Vote Showed Small Majority Favored Staying Out. But Committee Advises All to Get Busy.

London, April 5.—The miners' federation, after a long conference, decided to advise all the miners in Great Britain to resume work.

The decision of the executive committee is only the first step toward officially terminating the national coal strike and a national conference of the whole of the federation will now have to decide whether or not the advice of the executive committee shall be adopted. A national conference of the federation has been summoned to meet Saturday to determine the question.

A surprise awaited the executive committee of the miners' federation when the ballots of the miners were counted. The figures disclosed a majority of 43,000 against the resumption of work out of a total vote of 445,000. The members of the executive committee, however, decided that as a two-third majority of the miners had been requested to declare the strike, a two-third majority also was necessary to continue it. They therefore resolved to advise the miners to resume work and to summon a conference of the whole federation for Saturday when the recommendation of the executive committee will be considered.

In the meanwhile large numbers of miners in various coal districts, without awaiting the decision of their leaders, have returned to the pits. Fully 50,000 miners have already gone down the shafts.

TO REDUCE KANSAS MINE DEATHS

Gov. Stubbs Urging Owners to Provide Safety Apparatus—Fifteen Deaths in Six Months.

Topeka, April 5.—Gov. Stubbs is asking the Kansas mine owners to put "first aid" appliances and gas fighting apparatus in all the Kansas mines to see if the loss of life from mine explosions in the Kansas fields cannot be stopped entirely or reduced materially.

The state and federal governments are preparing to install a mine rescue car with complete apparatus at Pittsburg for use in emergency cases, but the governor wants each mine to have some apparatus of its own in the mine ready for instant use.

There have been 15 deaths from mine explosions in Kansas in the last six months.

WADED MUD TO COOKING SCHOOL

Kansas Women Rode From Five to Ten Miles Over Awful Roads to Attend.

Manhattan, Kan., April 5.—Women and men, too, rode horseback from five to ten miles through mud and snow to attend the movable cooking school held at Vinland, in Douglas county. The roads were such that carriages were out of the question so everyone came on horseback. Men rode in to these meetings every day with their wives hanging bravely on behind.

The population of Vinland and community is about 75 persons. Of that number, 22 women and girls were enrolled in the cooking school. Thirteen were from the country and not one of them missed a day.
